Kirwan Institute Announces June Brown Bag Lecture Series

The Kirwan Institute for the Study of Race and Ethnicity will hold a series of lunch-time lectures during the month of June. The campus community is welcome to attend and participants may bring their own brown bag lunch. All sessions will be held in room 423 Mendenhall Laboratory at noon on the following dates.

June 5, 2009: Deanna L. Wilkinson, PhD, Associate Professor in the College of Education and Human Ecology, Department of Human Development and Family Science, will discuss "Understanding and Preventing Urban Youth Violence: Lessons from Youth Involved in Violence."

June 19, 2009: Motomu Ibaraki, Associate Professor School of Earth Sciences, will present a lecture focusing on water issues related to public health, security, and contamination

Additional information about each of these sessions is available at the Kirwan Institute Web site at Kirwaninstitute.org.
